

January News

Well the North Branch clinic and show season for 2010 is coming together. We have most of our clinics and shows confirmed now and you can find them all listed under the North Branch section of the website. We are still looking for a youth clinician and judge for the August show. Hopefully we can have this confirmed in a couple of weeks. If you are interested in attending any of the clinics please forward me the registration form and payment to hold your spot.

We have a few spots left for Locke Duce, so hurry if you are interested so you can be sure to get in. I know it is only January but these clinics have limited spots and they do fill up fast.

For everyone who has won a 2009 high point prize we hope you are making your way to the banquet dinner. This is where you will receive your prize and get your picture taken with the group. So hurry and get your tickets, the information is on the main page of the website.

We look forward to the first clinic and show in April, it will be fun to kick off the season. Please spread the word about our clinics and shows and if you have any questions or concerns contact us we would love to hear from you.
